ALFRED LERNER
OWNER AND CHAIRMAN

The National Football League awarded the Cleveland franchise to Alfred Lerner on Sept. 8, 1998, with the formal transfer of ownership from the Browns Trust to Lerner and Carmen A. Policy occurring on Oct. 23, 1998.

"We consider the ownership of the Cleveland Browns to represent a very serious responsibility. We will work very hard to make the people of Cleveland and Northern Ohio proud of their football team," said Lerner.

Lerner is currently chairman and chief executive officer of MBNA Corporation (NYSE), the largest independent bank lender through credit cards in the United States, with more than 20,000 employees worldwide including 1,800 in the greater Cleveland area. He is chairman and chief executive officer of Town and Country Trust (NYSE; 17,000 residential apartments). He serves as chairman of the Browns and is also a member of the NFL Finance Committee, which is one of the most important and influential committees in the League.

Lerner is well known for his generous contributions to and leadership in Cleveland's healthcare and educational communities as well as for his numerous charitable actions that have made a major impact throughout Cleveland. Lerner serves as president and trustee of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation where the Lerner Research Institute is working on new treatments for cancer, coronary artery disease and AIDS. At University Hospitals, where his wife, Norma, is a trustee, there is also the Lerner Tower, a 210-bed state of the art hospital building.

Lerner, who served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1955-57 (achieving the rank of 1st LT.), is vice chairman and trustee of Columbia University and also is a trustee at Case Western Reserve University and New York Presbyterian Hospital and is a director of the Marine Corps Law Enforcement Association. Norma Lerner is a trustee of the Musical Arts Association (which supports the Cleveland Orchestra).

Lerner was born in Brooklyn, NY, graduated from Brooklyn Technical High School in 1951 and obtained a B.A. from Columbia College in 1955. He and his wife, the former Norma Wolkoff, reside in Shaker Heights. They have two children and seven grandchildren.

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Carmen A. Policy is president and chief executive officer of the Cleveland Browns. He and Chairman and Owner Alfred Lerner were responsible for creating a football and front office organization for an expansion team, which has a rich history and legacy. Lerner named Policy a 10 percent equity partner upon being awarded the franchise on Sept. 8, 1998. Formal transfer of ownership from the Browns Trust to Lerner and Policy occurred on Oct. 23, 1998.

Policy earned a reputation as one of the preeminent executives in professional sports during eight years as president and chief executive officer of the San Francisco 49ers. Both The Sporting News and Pro Football Weekly named him NFL Executive of the Year in 1994, the latter award having been determined by a vote of NFL owners and executives. The Sporting News and GQ Magazine have also named him as one of the most influential people in professional sports.

Known for his swift, decisive style, rapid grasp of complex issues and adept problem solving abilities, Policy played a key role in all five of the 49ers' Super Bowl winning teams and helped shape the course for a 49ers' organization that became widely viewed as the hallmark sports franchise of the 1980s and 90s.

While practicing law in Northeastern Ohio, Policy served the 49ers' front office in 1983 as vice president and general counsel. Upon becoming executive vice president in 1989, he took on added responsibility for the team's front-office activities and represented the 49ers on league matters. He became president and chief executive officer in 1991, at which time he moved to the San Francisco Bay area.

One of Policy's biggest challenges came during and immediately after the 1993 season, when he was given a mandate to build a championship team. Creatively applying the NFL's new salary cap rules, he retained key veterans and signed top-quality free agents and draft picks to create a team that responded by winning Super Bowl XXIX (1994 season).

While with the 49ers, Policy was a member of the NFL Finance Committee and the Committee on Opportunities and Challenges.

An ardent believer in public service, Policy is on the Board of Directors of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. He expects to maintain a high level of civic and charitable involvement in Cleveland, similar to what he did in San Francisco. Those efforts earned him numerous honors, including the prestigious Silver Cable Car Award from the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau for contributions to the development of the city's business community. He also received The Mayor's Fiscal Advisory Committee Award in recognition of his managerial experience. He presently serves on several boards of local charities in Northeastern Ohio.

Policy graduated from Youngstown Ursuline High and is a 1963 graduate of Youngstown State University, which honored him as Alumnus of the Year in 1997. He earned his Juris Doctorate Degree from Georgetown University Law Center in 1966, where he presently serves on the Law Center's Board of Visitors. While he was practicing law, he was listed in all of the existing editions of the highly respected publication, The Best Lawyers in America. Inclusion in the publication is a significant honor since it is based on peer evaluation.

Policy has five children. James, a pediatric-orthopedic surgeon practicing in the San Francisco Bay area; Daniel, an attorney formerly associated with Morgan Stanley in New York City and Amsterdam; Edward, an attorney practicing with Thompson Hine & Flory; Kerry Rae, an MBA graduate who is a marketing officer with MBNA in Cleveland; and Kathleen, an attorney with the firm of Brobeck Phleger & Harrison located in San Francisco.

Policy is married to the former Gail Moretti. They make their home in Cleveland.

DWIGHT CLARK
VICE PRESIDENT, DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

Dwight Clark is in his second season as vice president and director of football operations. In conjunction with President and Chief Executive Officer Carmen A. Policy, Clark forms, finalizes and implements the organizational strategy for football operations and is responsible for all professional and college personnel acquisitions. He works closely with the head coach in determining the goals and standards for the team. Clark is also responsible for establishing financial guidelines and parameters for contract negotiations and yearly football budgets and works directly with the assistant director of football operations in creating a long-term financial plan for all football operations.

Clark directed the team's first two drafts, including the selection of number one picks Tim Couch (1999) and Courtney Brown (2000). The Browns' 1999 draft class contributed six players who were regular starters (81 combined starts) in 1999. Clark and his staff have also been responsible for acquiring key veterans through free agency and trades.

Clark, 43, came to the Browns in November 1998 after spending 19 seasons with the San Francisco 49ers – nine years on the field followed by 10 years in the front office. He was a part of all five of the 49ers' Super Bowl winning teams, helping the club to victory in Super Bowl's XVI and XIX as a player and Super Bowl's XXIII, XXIV and XXIX as a member of the front office. The 49ers posted 10+ wins in each of Clark's final 16 seasons with the club and earned playoff berths in 15 of the 16 seasons.

Following his playing career, Clark served as marketing consultant, executive administrative assistant, and as coordinator of football operations and player personnel before being named vice president/director of football operations in 1995, a position he held for four years until joining the Browns. In that capacity, he was responsible for scouting, player personnel, contract negotiations, salary cap management and the team's training camp. During this four-year period, 15 San Francisco players earned a total of 26 Pro Bowl appearances and the 49ers joined the Green Bay Packers as the only teams to earn consecutive playoff berths from 1995-98 while posting an NFL-best 48-16 regular-season mark. During Clark's tenure as vice president/director of football operations, the 49ers acquired six Pro Bowl performers through free agent signings and several of their draft picks enjoyed Pro Bowl honors.

Clark, a 10th round draft choice from Clemson in 1979, built a reputation as a big-game player during his nine-year pro career. He is well remembered for making "the catch" against the Dallas Cowboys in the 1981 NFC Championship Game that propelled the 49ers into Super Bowl XVI. He earned two Pro Bowl appearances and was named Sports Illustrated's Player of the Year in 1982. He was also one of the most popular players during his tenure with the 49ers and retired as the club's all-time leading receiver with 506 catches (20th player in NFL history to reach the 500-catch milestone), 6,750 receiving yards and 48 touchdowns. His jersey #87 was retired by the 49ers organization before 65,000 cheering Bay area fans. He is a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame, North Carolina Hall of Fame and South Carolina Hall of Fame.

Born in Kinston, NC, Clark grew up in Charlotte, NC. He majored in secondary education (history) at Clemson. He and his wife, Ashley, have three children: daughter Casey, 16; and sons Riley, 15; and Mac, 6.

Clark directed the Browns' first two drafts, including the selection of number one picks Tim Couch (1999) and Courtney Brown (2000).

CHRIS PALMER
HEAD COACH

Chris Palmer began a painstaking process in 1999 of building the Cleveland Browns from an expansion team to the organization's ultimate goal of perennial winner. Palmer's squad finished the '99 season with a 2-14 mark, however, the groundwork was laid for future successes.

Palmer inserted number one draft choice Tim Couch into the starting lineup in the second week of the season and the rookie quarterback responded in record-setting fashion. Under Palmer's tutelage, Couch established Browns' all-time rookie records and led all NFL rookie quarterbacks in 1999 in completions, attempts, yards, touchdowns and quarterback rating.

The ninth full-time head coach in franchise history, Palmer has a reputation as a keen offensive strategist and mentor, with particular skills in developing quarterbacks. He boasts 28 years of coaching experience, including the past 10 seasons in the NFL.

Palmer spent the 1997 and '98 seasons as the offensive coordinator on Tom Coughlin's staff in Jacksonville. He helped the Jaguars claim the AFC Central Division championship in 1998, and the club approached the 400-point mark both seasons (394 in '97, 392 in '98).

Palmer was instrumental in the continued development of Mark Brunell as one of the most explosive quarterbacks in the NFL. But even more amazing was Palmer's work with the Jaguars' young quarterbacks as five Jacksonville quarterbacks (Brunell, Rob Johnson, Steve Matthews, Jamie Martin and Jonathan Quinn) won at least one game for the Jaguars under Palmer's guidance.

Prior to joining the Jaguars in 1997, Palmer spent four seasons on Bill Parcell's staff in New England and he played a major role in the team earning a trip to Super Bowl XXXI following the 1996 season. As the Patriots' quarterbacks coach in 1996, Palmer retooled the mechanics of Drew Bledsoe, who ended the season leading the NFL in passing attempts and completions and finishing third in passing yards and touchdowns. When Palmer was the Patriots' receivers coach in 1994, the team set an NFL first when five players each caught more than 50 passes.

Palmer's first NFL coaching experience came with the Houston Oilers where he was wide receivers coach from 1990-92. During Palmer's three-year stay in Houston, the team boasted the top-ranked passing offense in the NFL.

Palmer was the head coach at Boston University in 1988 and '89, installing the run-and-shoot offense and producing one of the country's most exciting offenses. He was the head coach at the University of New Haven in 1986 and '87, with his teams posting consecutive 8-2 records and setting more than 50 school records.

His first professional coaching experience came in 1983 when he was the offensive line coach for the Montreal Concordes in the CFL. In 1984, he coached receivers for the USFL's New Jersey Generals, and the following season he was promoted to quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator. That year, Palmer's offense featured quarterbacks Doug Flutie and Brian Sipe and running back Herschel Walker, who set a professional football single-season rushing record with 2,411 yards.

Under Palmer's tutelage, Tim Couch established Browns' all-time rookie records and led all NFL rookie quarterbacks in 1999 in completions, attempts, yards, touchdowns and quarterback rating.

He began his coaching career as an assistant at the University of Connecticut in 1972, coaching the defensive line and wide receivers. In 1975, he moved to Lehigh as the wide receivers coach. The following season he was named the offensive coordinator at Colgate, where he coached for seven years (1976-82). In 1977, the Red Raiders led the nation in offense, averaging 486 yards per game.

Palmer played quarterback for Southern Connecticut State from 1968-71 and was selected to the New Haven Gridiron Club following his senior season. He received both bachelor's and master's degrees at SCSU. He was born Sept. 23, 1949 in Brewster, N.Y. He and his wife, Donna, have two children, Mark, 23, and Kristin, 19.

THE CLEVELAND BROWNS FOUNDATION

The primary purpose of The Cleveland Browns Foundation is to help meet the needs of disadvantaged youth in the Northeast Ohio area from childhood through teenage years. The Foundation's goal is to attempt to address the educational, social, cultural, financial and other problems faced by disadvantaged youth and try to cure or prevent such problems before they occur.

Head Coach Chris Palmer participated in the First Annual Cleveland Browns Foundation Golf Outing earlier this year.

The Foundation was formed as the philanthropic arm of the Cleveland Browns in January of 1998. Founded by Browns Chairman Alfred Lerner, the Foundation supports the local community by funding programs that improve the lives of those who are at risk, especially children, in Northeast Ohio communities.

The Foundation conducts numerous fund-raising activities throughout the course of the year. The funds raised are distributed annually through a grant application process that is reviewed by a local advisory board.

Several events have already been a big hit this year, including the Draft Day Party, Second Annual Tailgate Party and the First Annual Golf Outing. Other events planned for later this year are the Armada Funds Cleveland Browns Touchdown Run and the 2000 Cleveland Browns Luncheon.

The Foundation has four areas of focus:

Education – To promote reading, math, computer and science skills.

Arts & Culture – To promote exposure to culture in the Northeast Ohio area and encourage students activities in the arts and related programs.

Career Development – To promote the pursuit of higher education in conjunction with area colleges, universities and trade schools.

Health – To promote healthy living and physical fitness and discourage substance abuse.

DREAM·SEATS

Dream Seats

At every home game, the upper Northwest corner of Cleveland Browns Stadium is filled with a very special group of students. You can't buy a ticket to sit in this section. Entrance to the Dream Seats section of the Stadium is earned by students who have worked hard to achieve their goals, through their participation in community service projects, or by improving their academic performance in school. Each student earning a Dream Seats ticket must also sign a pledge card, promising not to drink, smoke or use illegal drugs during their participation in the program – hopefully for life.

In 1999, over 1,500 students and their chaperones packed the Dream Seats with bright orange shirts, painted faces, smiles and cheers. Most of these students had never been to a professional sporting event before and they were thrilled for the chance to join the other fans in Cleveland Browns Stadium, cheering their beloved Browns to victory. The Foundation knows that in order to be successful in life, students must get in the habit of setting clear goals, and working hard to achieve them. And students are motivated to achieve when they know that their efforts will be appreciated and rewarded. A ticket to a Cleveland Browns game is the ultimate reward.

For more information about The Cleveland Browns Foundation, please contact the Foundation at 440-891-5053.

BROWNS IN THE COMMUNITY

During the commemorative 1999 season, the Cleveland Browns players, coaches, executives and staff members immersed themselves in community outreach. The Cleveland Browns donated a significant amount of time and funding to support charities, causes and non-profit organizations to improve the quality of life throughout the Greater Cleveland area. The Browns are looking forward to continued involvement in the community in 2000. The following is a sample of the many community programs the Browns supported over the past year:

- Browns President and Chief Executive Officer Carmen Policy and his wife, Gail, served as honorary co-chairs for "Living Legends" the 10th Anniversary celebration benefiting the Center for Families and Children. The event raised over $130,000 and was attended by more than 500 people – the biggest fundraiser for the center to date. The Policys were accompanied by several members of the team's front office staff including, Head Coach Chris Palmer and his wife, Donna; Vice President, Director of Football Operations Dwight Clark and his wife, Ashley; and Vice President – Finance & Treasurer Doug Jacobs. Browns players who were also in attendance included, quarterback Ty Detmer and his wife, Kim; center Dave Wohlabaugh and his wife, Virginia; defensive back Ray Jackson, and tight end James Dearth.

- The Coach's Community Corner program targeted 95 non-profit organizations throughout the Greater Cleveland area, with emphasis on the elderly, handicapped, mentally disadvantaged, minority children and disadvantaged youth. These groups were invited to attend the afternoon training sessions July 22 – Aug. 23, 1999 from 3:20 p.m. – 5:15 p.m. The team's invited guests received VIP parking, reserve seating, t-shirts, snacks and refreshments. Following the practice the coaches and players took special notice to the Coach's Community Corner and signed autographs.

- Defensive end Derrick Alexander adopted four local Middle Schools within the Cleveland Municipal School District: Wilson, Martin Luther King, Central and Mary B. Martin. Students at these four schools worked hard towards regular attendance, good behavior and good grades. In addition, before every home game these students competed in an essay contest to become a member of DA's Achievers. The winning students, one at each school, received two (2) tickets, ten (10) dollars, a game program, transportation to the upcoming home game and had the opportunity to meet and take a photo with Derrick on the field.

- The Browns' 1999 rookies were also very active in the community as safety Marquis Smith and cornerback Daylon McCutcheon teamed up to start the holidays with a Toy Drive benefiting underprivileged children in the Cleveland Area. Hundreds of toys from the team's fantastic fans filled Harpo's Sports Club Café in Brookpark, Ohio, in time for the Christmas season.

- The Campbell's Chunky NFL Tackling Hunger 2000 Program is a nationwide hunger relief effort that links the on-the-field performances of all 31 NFL teams to canned soup donations. The Cleveland Browns worked with the Campbell Soup Company to create a preseason training food drive to benefit the Cleveland Foodbank, Inc. To highlight the Tackling Hunger 2000, Campbell's donated one can of soup for each pound of the Browns' offensive line. Guard Jim Pyne represented his linemates at the weigh-in using a Campbell's Chunky Soup Scale, in which the player's weight was measured in cans of soup.

Head Coach Chris Palmer is always a fan favorite at training camp practices through his support of the Coach's Community Corner.

- Cleveland experienced the Taste of the NFL first hand when celebrity chefs came together with past and present Browns players to raise money for Food Rescue of Northeast Ohio. This event was held at Cleveland Browns Stadium in the OfficeMax Club Lounge Cityview. The 1,000 attendees had the chance to dine with the elite of the gridiron and the griddle. After each course, a different football star and celebrity chef sat down and ate with the guests and provided the unique opportunity to receive autographs and recipes. The event was held independent of the Super Bowl for the first time ever.

- The Cleveland Browns and United Way Services celebrated the NFL's 26-year affiliation with the United Way by joining together to build a 50' by 40' playground at the West Side Ecumenical Ministry. Twenty-three (23) players and forty-three (43) staff members built the playground for children in the ministry and neighborhood.

BROWNS IN THE COMMUNITY

- The Cleveland Browns tackled something other than football during the holiday season – Thanksgiving dinner. Browns players and staff members served a traditional Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings to over 200 hungry and homeless Clevelanders at Willson Towers. Cornerback Daylon McCutcheon, fullback Tarek Saleh and other players kicked off the event benefiting the local Salvation Army.

- Defensive end Derrick Alexander, cornerback Corey Fuller and fullback Marc Edwards were among the players that teamed up with the United Black Fund to distribute 400 turkeys to needy and deserving families in the inner city within the Fairfax Empowerment Zone of Cleveland.

- Defensive tackle Darius Holland ran his Holland's Heroes program at four Westside Middle Schools within the Cleveland Municipal School District: Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Gallagher and Wilbur Wright. To become a Holland's Hero, students were selected by their school after submitting a winning essay. Each Holland's Hero won two tickets, transportation, $10 for food and a game program to the upcoming Browns home game at Cleveland Browns Stadium.

- Center Dave Wohlabaugh and his wife, Virginia, adopted a Cleveland family through the Cleveland Families and Services programs. The Wohlabaugh's made Christmas wishes come true for the family of four with a contribution of toys and clothes.

- The Browns granted Christmas wishes to all the children at the Cleveland Clinic Children's Hospital. The children who were being treated at the hospital wrote a Christmas wish list and two days later guard Jim Pyne, quarterback Ty Detmer, wide receiver Kevin Johnson and several other players arrived with gifts in hand.

- Cleveland Browns fans know how to have fun! Every home game 73,200 fans filled Cleveland Browns Stadium to celebrate football at its finest. The Browns partnered with Safe Ride and MADD programs to ensure that every fan returned home safely. Browns' spokesperson, quarterback Ty Detmer, did not want fans to drive home intoxicated. Fans who had too much to drink were instructed to stop by the Safe Ride/MADD office located on the main concourse next to the Cleveland Clinic Sports Health Gate to receive an alternative free ride home.

- The Giant Eagle Jr. Training Table was a fun and exciting 60-minute program created to enlighten and educate the students about the benefits of fitness and nutrition. Guard Jim Pyne, fullback Marc Edwards and running back Terry Kirby were among the players that teamed-up with Giant Eagle to present the Jr. Training Table program at Franklin D. Roosevelt, Roehn, Solon, North Olmsted and Harry Davis Middle Schools throughout the 1999 season.

- The Cleveland Browns Blood Drive was held in response to the blood emergency called by the American Red Cross, Blood Services, Northern Ohio Region on Aug. 23, 1999 at the Browns Training Camp. Blood inventories often plummet during the summer and the Cleveland Browns made it easy and fun to donate blood and cheer on your favorite team at the same time.

- The Cleveland Browns made wishes come true every home game with the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Children with life threatening illnesses throughout the country were granted their biggest wish to see the Browns players and coaches first hand at Cleveland Browns Stadium. Each child and their family received tickets, a Browns Insider game program and autographed footballs from Browns' players such as linebacker Jamir Miller, guard Jim Pyne and punter Chris Gardocki.

- The Cleveland Browns were committed to the welfare of children and teamed up with local children's hospitals to brighten up terminally ill patients. Offensive lineman Jim Bundren, kicker Phil Dawson, quarterback Ty Detmer, wide receiver Kevin Johnson, defensive lineman Arnold Miller, guard Jim Pyne, linebacker Wali Rainer, fullback Tarek Saleh, safety Marquis Smith, offensive lineman Steve Zahursky, defensive lineman Tyrone Rogers, running back Madre Hill and wide receiver Damon Dunn were among the Browns' players which donated significant time and support to children in local hospitals.

Starting all 16 games for the Browns at defensive end in his first season, Derrick Alexander emerged as a team leader both on the field and in the locker room. He started the first three games at left defensive end and then moved to the right end spot for the final 13 games, registering a career-high 60 tackles (36 solos) while leading the team with 15 quarterback hits. He chipped in 2.5 sacks and 1 pass defense. Alexander was chosen by teammates as the 1999 Cleveland Browns recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award, annually recognizing the player who exemplifies the qualities of courage, compassion, commitment and community service. Prior to joining the Browns, he was a key contributor for the Minnesota Vikings' 15-1 Division Championship team in 1998. He was originally selected by the Vikings as a first round choice (11th overall) in the 1995 NFL Draft. Alexander helped Florida State defeat Nebraska, 18-16, for the National Championship on New Year's Day 1994 in the Orange Bowl.

A fixture at right tackle for the Browns for the first 15 weeks of the 1999 season, Orlando Brown missed the final game of the season with an eye injury and suspension for conduct with an official. Brown started his NFL career with the Browns in 1993 and followed the team to Baltimore when the franchise moved after the 1995 season. He was named one of the NFL's toughest players by Pro Football Weekly. Nicknamed "Zeus", Brown had started 69 consecutive regular-season games prior to missing the final three games of the 1998 season with an injury. He started his first NFL game at right tackle against the New England Patriots and helped the Browns establish a franchise record by allowing only 14 sacks during the 1994 season. Brown signed with the Browns as an unrestricted free agent on Feb. 17, 1999. He was originally signed by the Browns as a rookie free agent on May 13, 1993.

Wali Rainer became the starting middle linebacker when Chris Spielman was forced to retire during training camp. As a rookie, Rainer led the Browns with 191 tackles, including 140 solo stops. He had 17 tackles in his NFL debut against the Pittsburgh Steelers on Sept. 12. Rainer had 10 or more tackles in 12 games and led the team in tackles nine times. He had a career-high 20 tackles in the Browns' first win over the New Orleans Saints on Oct. 31, 1999. Rainer was selected by the Browns in the fourth round (124th overall) in the 1999 NFL Draft.

Errict Rhett finished 11th in the AFC with 852 rushing yards on 236 carries, including 5 touchdowns in 1999 with the Baltimore Ravens. The Browns signed Rhett as an unrestricted free agent on Feb. 19, 2000. Rhett notched four 100-yard rushing games in 1999. He was originally drafted in the second round of the 1994 NFL Draft by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (34th overall). While with the Bucs, Rhett rushed for 1,011 and 1,207 yards in his first two NFL seasons. He has 3,885 career rushing yards, including 29 touchdowns. He won NFC Offensive Rookie of the Year honors in 1994. Rhett surpassed Emmitt Smith's rushing totals at Florida and is the school's all-time leading rusher with 4,163 yards.

Browns Hope to Take Big Step in 2000

By Fred Greetham

For the average NFL fan a 2-14 season is expecte of an expansion team. However, Cleveland Browns' fans aren't average fans and with the rich history and tradition of the Cleveland Browns expectations are higher in 2000. The expansion label was lifted on the final day of the 1999 season.

"Now, we will be judged like any other team," Dwight Clark, Director of Football Operations said after the '99 season. "By our win and loss record."

Browns' Owner Al Lerner is looking forward to the team's second season.

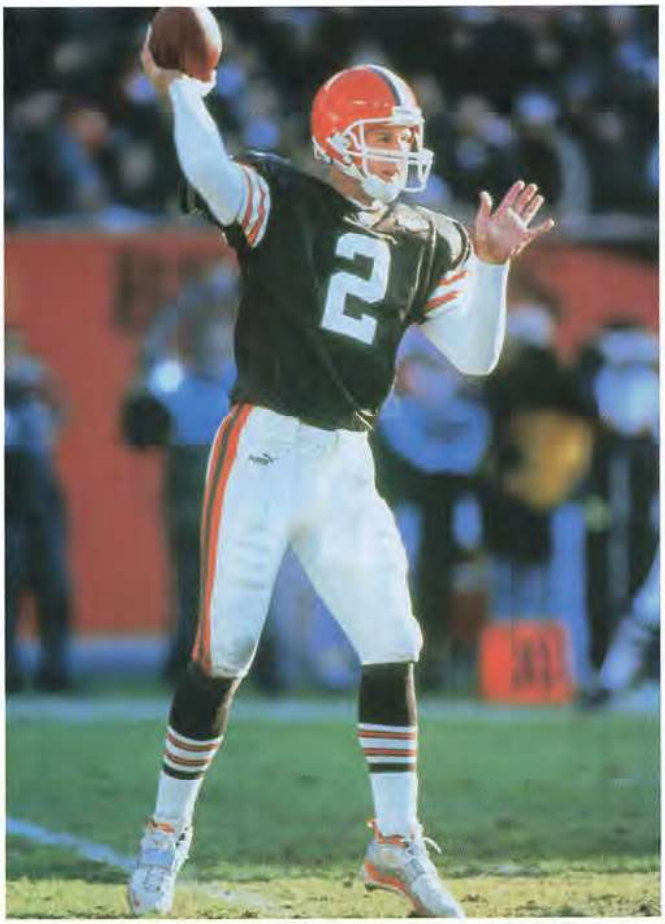
"Seeing this year's draft compared to last year's, I understand better what the last year cost us," Lerner said. "In other words, I get a better feel for the disadvantages we had last year trying to put it all together and still come into the draft. Last year, I thought we would get 'there,' we all know where 'there' is, and this year I continue to think it. If anything, I'm more convinced that we'll get 'there'."

Realistically, the Browns will have a very formidable task if they are to make it to the playoffs in their second year. They play in the rugged AFC Central Division where the Tennessee Titans are the reigning AFC champions after playing in the Super Bowl. The Jacksonville Jaguars have been one of the elite teams in the NFL over the past three years and the Baltimore Ravens are looked at as an up-and-coming team. The Pittsburgh Steelers and Cincinnati Bengals are always tough against the Browns.

There are many bright spots as the Browns prepare for their second campaign. The Browns have significantly upgraded their defensive line. They signed two prized unrestricted free agents in defensive ends Orpheus Roye from Pittsburgh and Keith McKenzie from Green Bay. McKenzie had 8 sacks for the Packers, while Roye had 4.5 for the Steelers. The Browns also added Courtney Brown from Penn State with the first pick in the 2000 NFL Draft.

The Browns called Brown the "cornerstone of the defense" in the way Tim Couch is the cornerstone of the offense.

Returning from last year are starters Derrick Alexander, Stalin Colinet and Darius Holland. All were solid contributors and are expected to share the load with the newcomers. The Browns appear to have significantly upgraded their defense, which ranked last in the NFL. The Browns had just 25 sacks last season and made it a high priority to pressure the opposing quarterback.



Quarterback Tim Couch plans to build on a successful rookie campaign that resulted in 2,447 yards passing and 15 touchdowns.

"We need to put more heat on the quarterback," Clark said.

The Browns return their starting trio of linebackers with Wali Rainer, Rahim Abdullah and Jamir Miller. Rainer and Abdullah should be improved because of the valuable experience they gained as starters in their rookie seasons. Miller should benefit greatly from the acquisition of Roye, Mckenzie and Brown. Marty Moore was signed as an unrestricted free agent from the New England Patriots and is expected to be a core special teams player as well as contributor at the outside linebacker spot. Lenoy Jones returns from last year's team, as does Jason Kyle, who was injured last year. Kendall Ogle and Ryan Taylor return for their second season with the Browns after spending the offseason playing in NFL Europe.

The secondary returns incumbent cornerbacks Corey Fuller and Daylon McCutcheon. Fuller will return to his natural position after moving to free safety last season when Tim McTyer fractured his forearm. The signing of unrestricted free agent Percy Ellsworth is expected to solidify the secondary. The 6-2, 225 pound free safety had six interceptions for the New York Giants last season and has 18 thefts in his first four NFL seasons. Ellsworth brings the big play ability to the Browns secondary, which had just four interceptions as a whole last year. McTyer returns after missing the majority of the season and is expected to play free safety and possibly compete for the starting strong safety spot with Marquis Smith and Earl Little. Veteran Raymond Jackson is also in the mix at the cornerback position.

The Browns drafted four defensive backs in Lewis Sanders, Anthony Malbrough, Lamar Chapman and Rashidi Barnes. Coach Chris Palmer thinks he has a good group of rookie defensive backs.

"We're going to need one or two of the (rookie) defensive backs to do something this year," Palmer said.

"I think there's some ability there that can be developed," Clark said. "There's some quick feet and good size on certain guys."

On offense, Couch returns after an impressive rookie season where he threw for 2,447 yards with 15 touchdowns and 13 interceptions. Ty Detmer returns as Couch's backup with rookies Spergon Wynn and Kevin Thompson competing for the No. 3 spot.

The running back position has been significantly strengthened with the addition of unrestricted free agent Errict Rhett, as well as rookie third-round draft choice Travis Prentice. Rhett has rushed for over 1,000 yards with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and was the top rusher for the Ravens last season. Prentice comes to the Browns as the all-time leading scorer in NCAA history.

"We think we have a guy (in Prentice) whose strong suit is running between the tackles," Palmer said. "He's a big powerful back that drives it up in there and has the size to protect the ball."

Terry Kirby and Madre Hill return from last year's team. Kirby was the leading rusher with 452 yards and 6 touchdowns last year and he caught 58 passes for 528 yards with three touchdowns. Marc Edwards and Tarek Saleh return as the fullbacks. Edwards had 27 catches for 212 yards, including two touchdowns.

The wide receiver position is loaded with promise. Kevin Johnson and Darrin Chiaverini return after great rookie seasons. Johnson broke most of Paul Warfield's rookie records with 66 catches for 986 yards, including 8 touchdowns. Chiaverini finished third on the team with 44 catches for 487 yards, including 4 touchdowns. Ronnie Powell, Damon Dunn and Zola Davis return to compete for spots. Powell and Dunn played in NFL Europe. Veteran David Patten was signed as an unrestricted free agent from the Giants and is expected to compete in the kick return area.

Draft choices Dennis Northcutt and JaJuan Dawson should make things quite interesting in training camp.

"I'm excited about the receiving group," Palmer said. "That's going to be an interesting battle. They're going to make us stay up at nights and see who's going to make the team."

The tight end position is currently lacking NFL experience. Mark Campbell made the team as an undrafted free agent last year and caught 9 passes. Currently, he is listed as the starter. The Browns like Aaron Shea from Michigan, who they drafted in the fourth round. They were also impressed with undrafted free agent Kyle Allamon during the rookie mini camp. Randy Palmer returns after joining the Browns during the 1999 season.

"One of the tight ends is going to have to step up," Palmer said. "As a group, the rookies made some nice catches during the mini camp."

The offensive line could have as much as 60 percent turnover from a year ago. Unrestricted free agent Roman Oben will replace Lomas Brown at left tackle. Unrestricted free agent Everett Lindsay is penciled in as the starting right guard replacing a host of players tried there a year ago. Steve Zahursky likely would replace Orlando Brown at right tackle if Brown is still unable to play because of his eye injury suffered in the 15th game of last season. Oben joined the Browns from the Giants and Lindsay came from the Ravens.

The only returning starters currently from last year are center Dave Wohlabaugh and left guard Jim Pyne. Several players who showed promise in the latter stages of the 1999 season are expected to compete for playing time are Jim Bundren, Jeremy McKinney, Chris Ruhman and Roger Chanoine. Draft choices Brad Bedell and Manuia Savea had impressive college careers and it will depend on how quickly they adapt to the pro game as to when they will help the line.

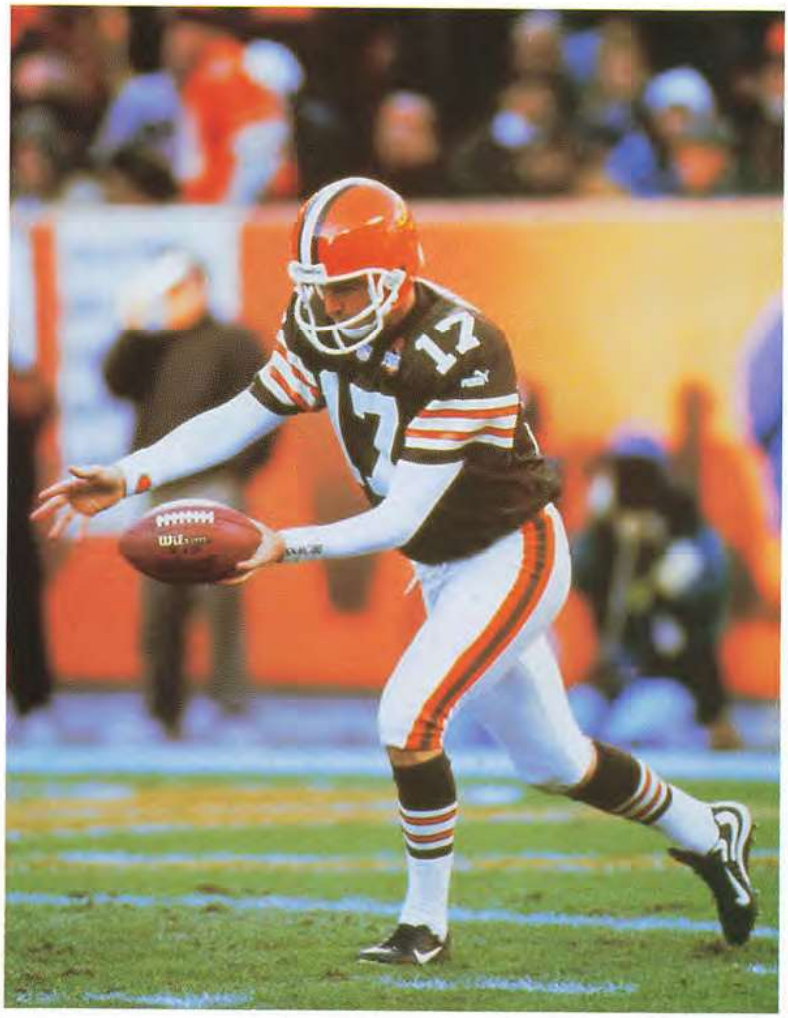
The specialists return from a year ago with Chris Gardocki as the punter and Phil Dawson as the kicker. Gardocki punted a record 106 times for an impressive 43.8 average. Dawson had just 12 field goal attempts, connecting on 8. His only kick with the game on the line came in the waning seconds to defeat the Steelers in Three Rivers Stadium.

A big key for the Browns will be the emergence of younger players.

"You win with your drafts," Palmer said. "There's no quick fix. Look at the (Los Angeles) Dodgers. They went out and tried to buy a championship. The (Florida) Marlins did it, and it lasted a year. We're in a position where I feel very, very good about our football players. I just have to be patient about letting them mature.

The Browns appear to have a solid draft once again to go with their first draft, which produced six starters in last year's lineup. Six different drafted rookies started a total of 84 games for the Browns led by Johnson and Rainer with 16 starts each, McCutcheon with 15, Couch with 14, Abdullah with 13 and Chiaverini with 10.

"You can see we're starting to put more of the pieces together in the building of a championship," Palmer said. "If our first class of draft picks produces five to seven guys who become good players in the NFL, and if we get five to seven this year, we have 10-14 guys after two years. If you hit on a couple of free agents, you're up to 14 to 18. By the end of your third year, if you put together three good draft classes, you should be able to make some headway."



Veteran Chris Gardocki returns for his second season with the Browns following a career-high 106 punts for a 43.8-yard

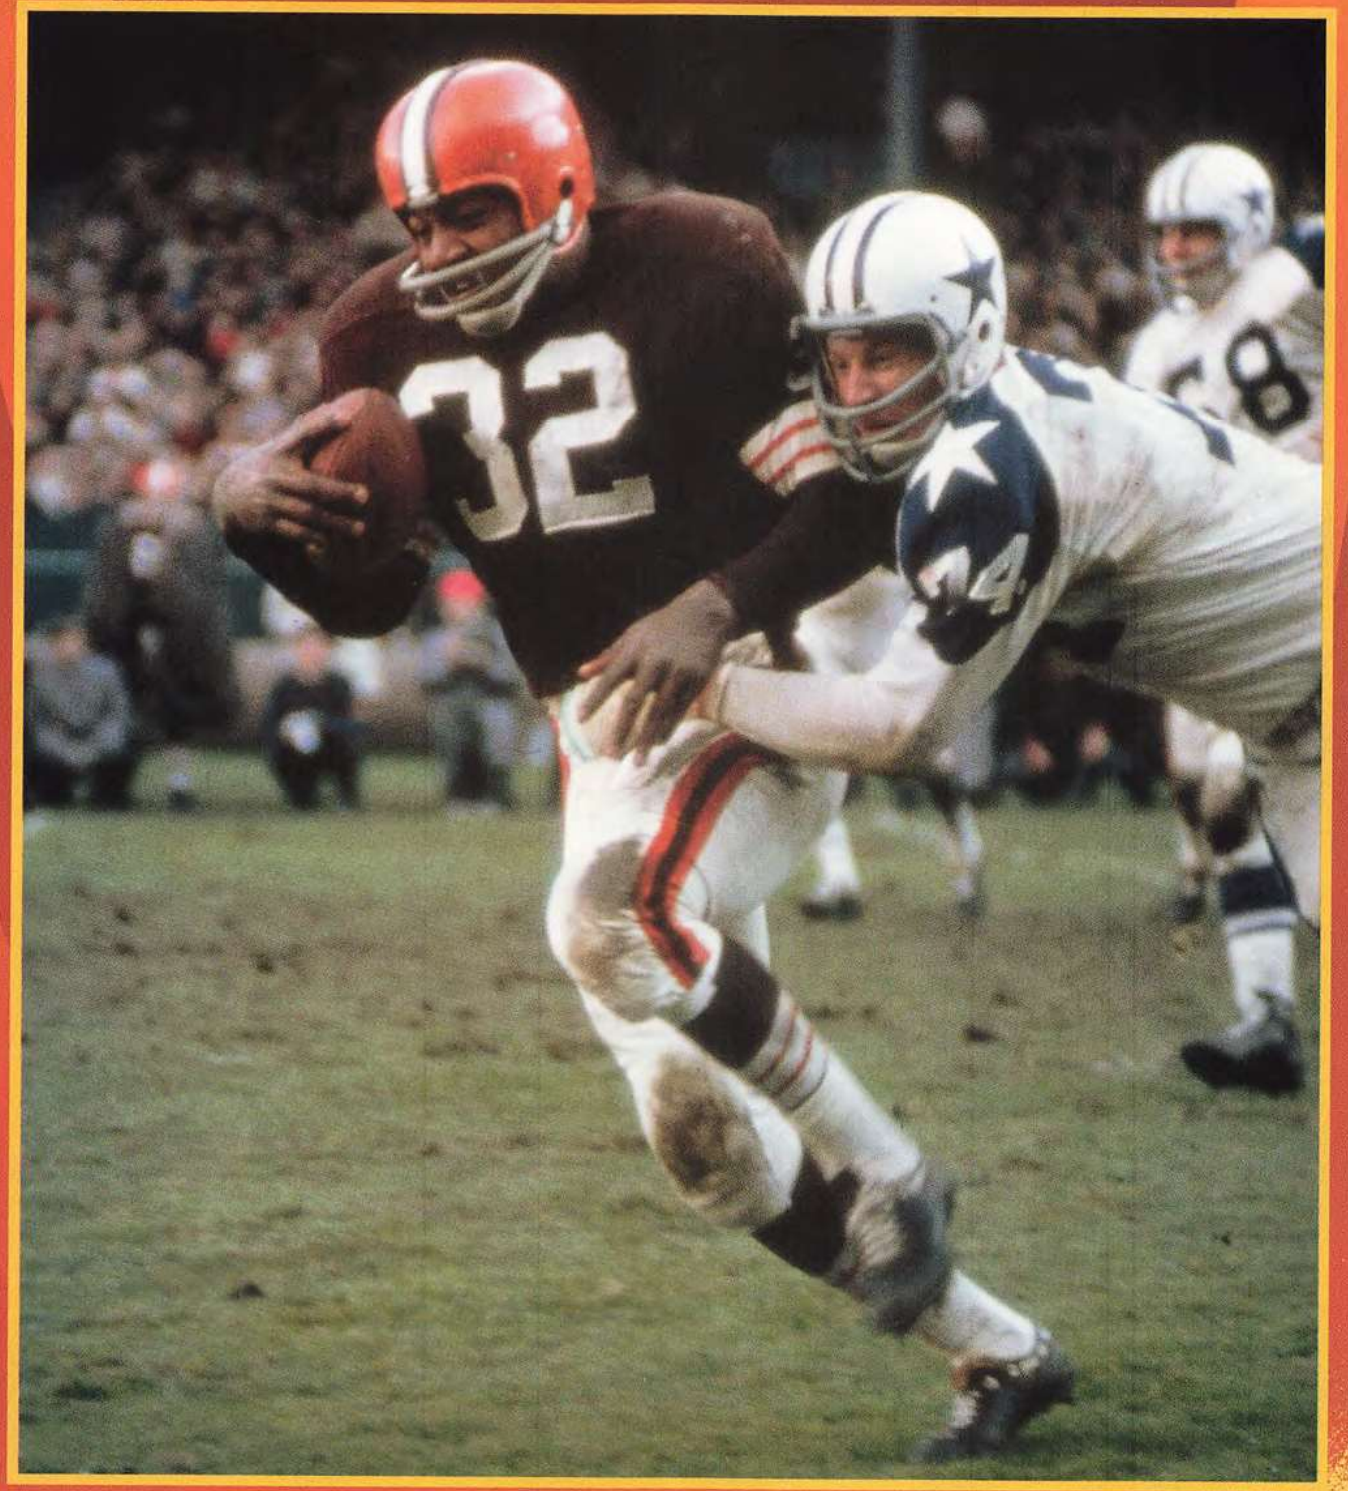
CLEVELAND BROWNS HISTORY



1946: The Cleveland Browns were originated by owner Arthur (Mickey) McBride as a member of the All-America Football Conference. Paul Brown was named coach and general manager and the first player he signed was then tailback Otto Graham, who was converted to quarterback with the Browns. The Browns won the Western title with a 42-17 victory over the Buffalo Bisons and then defeated the New York Yankees, 14-9, in the championship game.

1947-49: The Browns continued their domination of the AAFC, winning three more championships.

1950: Following the merger of the AAFC and the NFL, the Browns tied with the New York Giants with 10-2 records for a share of the Eastern title. The Browns defeated the Giants, 8-3, in a playoff game and then stopped Los Angeles, 30-28, for the championship.

1951-53: The Browns won three consecutive Eastern titles, but lost each time in the league's title match, once to Los Angeles and twice to Detroit. In 1953, McBride sold the club to an organization headed by David Jones.

1954-55: Led by quarterback Otto Graham, the Browns won back-to-back NFL championships, defeating Detroit and Los Angeles.

1956: At 5-7, the Browns suffered their first losing season.

1957: Jim Brown was selected in the first round by the Browns and earned rookie of the year honors while helping Cleveland to the Eastern Division title.

1961: Art Modell purchased the Browns for the then unheard of sum of $4 million.

1963: Paul Brown was released from his duties after 17 seasons as head coach of the franchise. Blanton Collier, a Browns' assistant, was named head coach.

1964: The Browns won the division title with a 52-20 victory over the Giants and captured the NFL championship with a 27-0 win over Colts.

1965: In his last season, Jim Brown won NFL MVP honors and led Cleveland to the NFL title game where the Browns were defeated by Green Bay.

Arthur (Mickey) McBride, Owner (1946-53)

1966: An eighth round pick from 1964, Leroy Kelly became the club's dominant threat, rushing for 1,141 yards, but the Browns finished second in their division to Dallas.

1968: With newly acquired quarterback Bill Nelsen (from Pittsburgh), the Browns won their division; beat Dallas in the playoffs and lost to Baltimore in the championship game.

1969: The Browns won their third consecutive division crown, but lost to Minnesota in the title game.

1970: The Browns became members of the AFC Central Division and finished second. The Browns beat the New York Jets on Monday Night Football's first-ever telecast.

Mac Speedie, End (1946-52)

Jim Houston, Linebacker (1960-72)

1971: Nick Skorich, a Browns assistant, was named head coach. The club won its first AFC Central crown.

1975-77: Forrest Gregg, Browns' offensive line coach, became head coach; Greg Pruitt had three consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons; Dick Modzelewski coached the final game of 1977.

1978: Sam Rutigliano became the first non-Browns' assistant to be named head coach of the Browns. Cleveland won its first three contests en route to an 8-8 finish.

1979: Losses in the final two games dropped the Browns' record to 9-7 and prevented the team from entering the playoffs. Mike Pruitt had the first of three straight 1,000-yard seasons.

1980: The Browns won the AFC Central title with an 11-5 record, but lost to eventual Super Bowl Champion Oakland in the playoffs. Quarterback Brian Sipe was consensus MVP of the NFL.

1982: In a strike-shortened season, the Browns finished eighth in the AFC (4-5) and gained a playoff spot for the second time in three years. Cleveland lost to the Raiders in the Super Bowl Tournament.

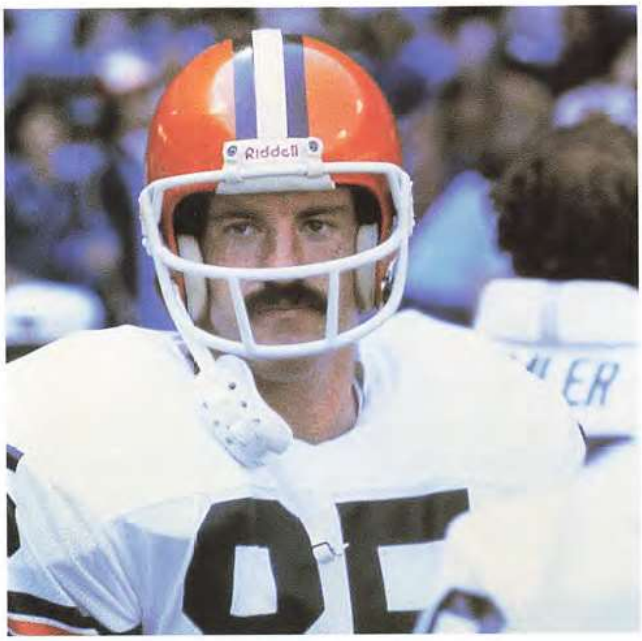
1983: The Browns tied for a wildcard playoff spot with a 9-7 record, but lost the NFL tie-breaking procedure to Denver and Seattle.

1984: The Browns replaced Head Coach Sam Rutigliano with Defensive Coordinator Marty Schottenheimer after a 1-7 midseason record and finished the season at 5-11. Tight end Ozzie Newsome caught 89 passes for the second straight year.

1985: The Browns captured their third AFC Central Division championship, but lost to the Dolphins, 24-21, in Miami. Rookie Kevin Mack (1,104) and Earnest Byner (1,002) each gained 1,000 yards rushing. It marked the third time in the 66-year history of the NFL that teammates both rushed for over 1,000 yards in the same season.

Blanton Collier, Head Coach (1963-70)

1986: The Browns posted a team record 12 wins en route to their second consecutive AFC Central crown. In a double-overtime playoff thriller before a packed Cleveland Municipal Stadium crowd, the Browns beat the New York Jets 23-20 to advance to the AFC Championship game. The Browns lost to Denver, also in overtime, 23-20.



Dave Logan, Wide Receiver (1976-83)

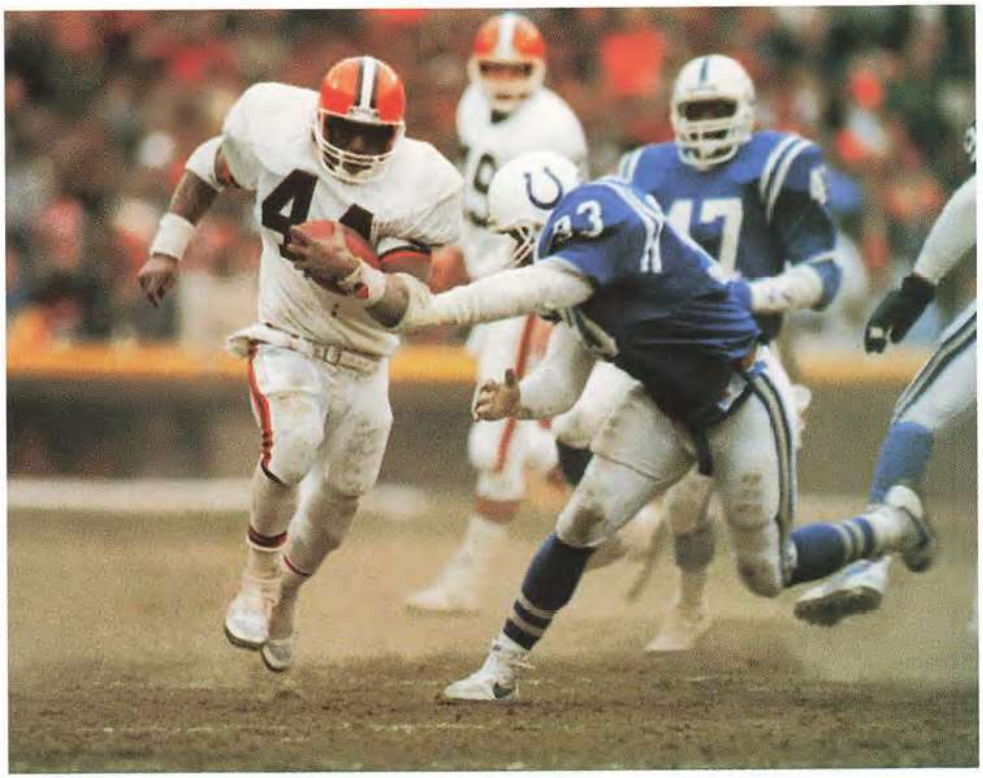
1987: The Browns captured their third straight AFC Central crown as they finished the season 10-5. The third week of the NFL season was cancelled due to the 24-day players' strike, while three "replacement" games were played (the Browns went 2-1). The Browns defeated the Colts, 38-21, at Cleveland Municipal Stadium in the AFC playoffs, then dropped their second straight AFC Championship to Denver despite a spectacular come-from-behind bid that saw them score 30 second-half points, only to fall, 38-33 in Mile High Stadium. Bernie Kosar won the AFC passing title with a 95.4 QB rating, and an NFL-high eight Browns made the Pro Bowl.

1988: Cleveland finished 10-6 and earned a Wild Card berth by defeating Houston, 28-23, in the season finale by overcoming a 16-point third-quarter deficit. Houston defeated the Browns, 24-23, in the Wild Card game played on Christmas Eve. Four Cleveland quarterbacks suffered injuries during the course of the season. Marty Schottenheimer resigned on Dec. 27.

1989: Bud Carson was announced as the Browns' seventh full-time head coach on Jan. 27. The Browns won their fourth division title in five years with a 9-6-1 record, and advanced to the playoffs for an AFC-high fifth straight season. The Browns advanced to their third title game in four years by defeating Buffalo 34-30, but lost to Denver, 37-21, at Mile High Stadium in the AFC Championship.

1990: The Browns suffered through a 3-13 season. Jim Shofner replaced Bud Carson as interim head coach on Nov. 5.

1991-93: Bill Belichick was named the eighth full-time head coach on Feb. 5, 1991. The Browns moved into a new training and administrative complex, located in Berea, Ohio, in August, 1991 and began holding training camp there in July, 1992. The Browns finished 6-10, 7-9 and 7-9, respectively. Unrestricted free agency began in 1993. The Browns signed five players in first year of system, including quarterback Vinny Testaverde of Tampa Bay.



Earnest Byner, Running Back (1984-88, 94-95)

1994: The Browns earned a playoff berth for the first time in the '90s, finishing 11-5 and defeating the New England Patriots, 20-13, in the Wild Card game at sold-out Cleveland Municipal Stadium. The Browns faced the Steelers for the first time ever in the playoffs, and lost 29-9 at Three Rivers Stadium. The Cleveland defense set a team record by allowing just 204 points, and six players went to the Pro Bowl. Leroy Kelly became the 13th Brown to enter the Pro Football Hall of Fame on July 30.

1995: The Browns concluded the season with a 5-11 record. In November, owner Art Modell announced he was relocating the team to Baltimore, Md. The final game played at Cleveland Municipal Stadium was on Sunday, Dec. 17, 1995 against the Cincinnati Bengals. The Browns defeated the Bengals, 26-10. The victory marked an all-time NFL season record of 202-117-5 (.631) while playing at Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

1996: The City of Cleveland and the NFL secured an unprecedented deal to return the Cleveland Browns to the playing field in 1999. The deal stipulated that the name, colors and heritage of the Browns would remain in Cleveland.

1998: The NFL awarded the Cleveland Browns to Alfred Lerner and Carmen Policy on Sept. 8, 1998. The NFL formally transfered ownership of the Cleveland Browns to Lerner and Policy on Oct. 23, 1998. Dwight Clark was named vice president, director of football operations on Nov. 30, 1998.

1999: Chris Palmer was named the ninth full-time head coach in Cleveland Browns history Jan. 21, 1999. The Browns were awarded the rights to the first pick in the 1999 NFL Draft and used the pick to select Kentucky quarterback Tim Couch. The first game at new Cleveland Browns Stadium was played on Aug. 21, 1999 against the Minnesota Vikings with the Vikings prevailing, 24-17. In the first regular season game in the Browns' 1999 commemorative season and the first regular-season game at Cleveland Browns Stadium, the Browns lost to the Pittsburgh Steelers, 43-0. The Browns recorded their first victory of the '99 season on Oct. 31, 1999 with a last-second Hail Mary pass from Tim Couch to Kevin Johnson.

The Cleveland Browns' first win in 1999 came on a Hail Mary pass from Tim Couch to Kevin Johnson, lifting the Browns over the New Orleans Saints, 21-16, on Oct. 31, 1999.

First, Compaq brought home the Internet. Now we make sure everyone in your home can use it.

Call it Murphy's Law: Every time you try to get online, someone sneaks on before you. But now, Compaq brings you Home Phoneline Networking[1]. It allows the whole family to access the Net from their PCs at the same time. No additional phone lines. No waiting.

But that's just one way Compaq makes the Net more accessible. We also let you choose how you get there, with three great Internet service providers: Compaq.NET,[2] with unlimited access for just $11.99 per month and no setup charges; AOL, the world's #1 online service, with several pricing plans to suit your needs; and NetZero,[3] a free Internet provider.

And if you enjoy cruising the Net at top speeds, select Compaq Presario Internet PCs are equipped with lightning-fast digital DSL/56K modems.[4] So if DSL service is available in your area, you'll be ready. In addition, select Presario PCs are also cable and satellite modem ready[5] for ultra high-speed access.

Visit Circuit City today, and be surfing tonight.

[1]Home Phoneline Networking and Ethernet Port cannot be used simultaneously. Additional PC must have a network adapter, sold separately. AOL is a single user system and will not allow multiple users to access simultaneously under the same account. Other Internet Service Providers may have the same restrictions. [2]Compaq.NET offers unlimited Internet access starting at $11.99/month based on prepaid 12-month service agreement. See User Agreement for additional terms and conditions. [3]NetZero offer is valid in U.S. only. Free Internet access is provided by NetZero to new subscribers in exchange for certain personal information from the subscriber and an agreement by the subscriber to view targeted Web advertising. Internet access does not include local telephone company charges, if any, or applicable taxes. Any long distance charges incurred will be the responsibility of the customer. Please make sure your access number is local. Other terms and conditions apply. See NetZero User Agreement for details. [4]The Compaq 1.5 Max Digital DSL/56K modems use the G.Lite/G.DMT DSL and V.90 56K protocols. G.Lite/G.DMT updates may be downloaded from the Compaq Web site when available. Availability of compatible G.Lite/G.DMT DSL services will vary by region and Service Provider. Maximum achievable download transmission rates with G.Lite/G.DMT DSL will vary with line conditions, distance and service offerings and may not reach 1.5 Mbps. Maximum achievable download transmission rates with V.90 will vary with line conditions and may not reach 56 Kbps. Simultaneous use of a phone line for DSL Internet access and voice services may require a line splitter or filter (for additional cost). [5]Cable and satellite modem service availability and offering vary by cable and satellite provider.The information in this advertisement is subject to change without notice. SONY

CATCH EVERYTHING YOU MISSED.

They scored when the guy in front of you was waving his puffy hand. They converted on fourth down while you bought the hot dogs. They intercepted when you went for beers. So why are you smiling? Because you were smart enough to load a Sony V® videocassette in your VCR. Which means you can catch the whole game at home. You'll enjoy all the color, all the sound, and all the play-by-play — for every play.

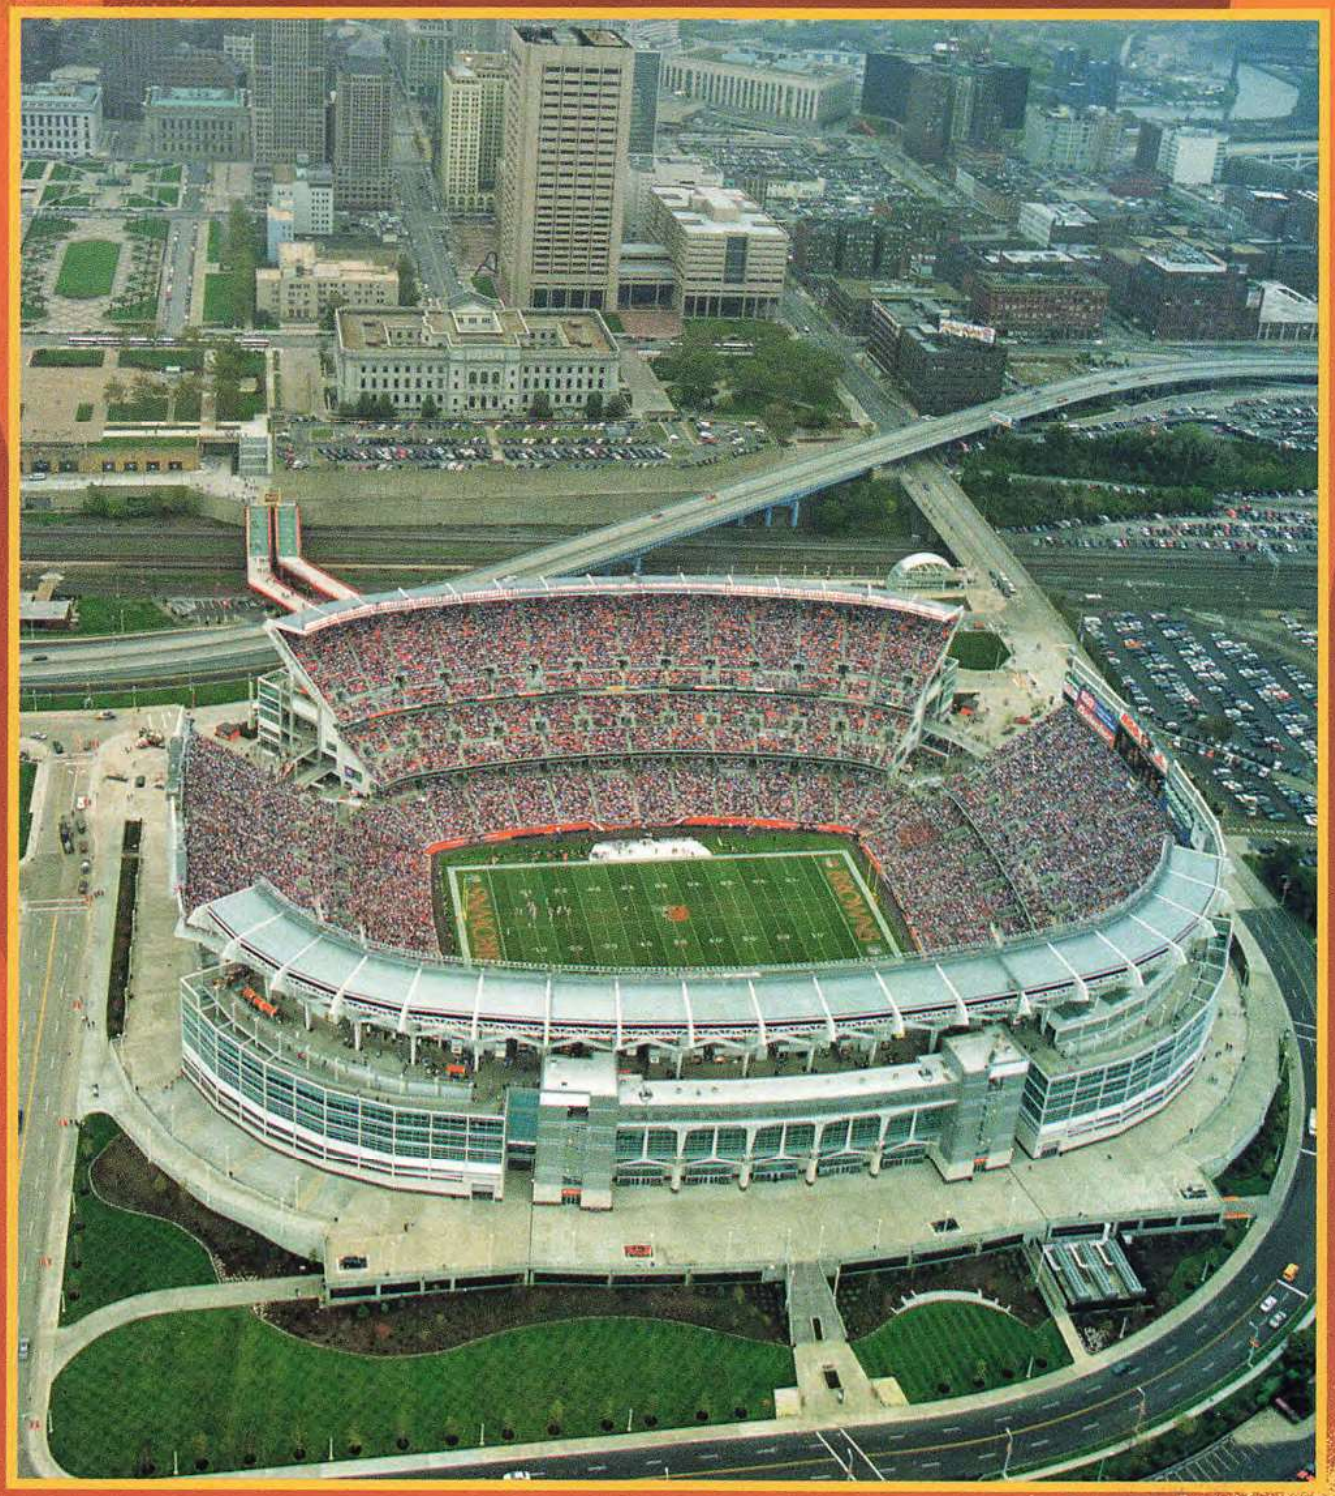
CLEVELAND BROWNS STADIUM



CLEVELAND BROWNS STADIUM

Who can think of Cleveland Browns football without hearing the deafening cheers of tens of thousands of people clad in orange and brown as players rush from the locker room tunnel onto the field? Or feeling bone-chilling winds blasting across Lake Erie to frustrate kickers as balls veered wide of goal posts? Or imagining the east end zone without the country's most rabid fans in the Dawg Pound barking to support their beloved Browns?

Building Cleveland Browns Stadium on the hallowed ground of the old Municipal Stadium honored some of the greatest athletic endeavors of the 20th century. Where better to construct a new home for the Cleveland Browns than where legendary coach Paul Brown established Cleveland's first football dynasty in the 1940's that continued for almost 20 years? No other site could have been as appropriate as the field where 14 Cleveland Browns players – Jim Brown, Paul Brown, Len Ford, Frank Gatski, Otto Graham, Lou Groza, Leroy Kelly, Dante Lavelli, Mike McCormack, Bobby Mitchell, Marion Motley, Ozzie Newsome, Paul Warfield and Bill Willis – established their credentials for induction into the Professional Football Hall of Fame in nearby Canton.

While the location of the new stadium honored the glorious history of athletic achievements in Cleveland, the new Cleveland Browns Stadium is first and foremost a lakefront landmark. The new Stadium is also as distinctive as its glistening neighbors at North Coast Harbor – Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, the Great Lakes Science Center and the glassy stations of the RTA Waterfront Line.

The Stadium is a celebration of Cleveland's continuing renaissance, drawing people to the lakefront and the stadium every day. Architectural gaps in the seating bowl at Cleveland Browns Stadium at the Southeast and Southwest entrance plazas allow visitors to view the field and the inside of the stadium even when the Browns aren't playing. These gaps, and the upper level bridges connecting the sideline and end zone seating, also allow ticket holders to see the downtown skyline. Strolling along the concourse on the North side of the Stadium offers visitors the opportunity to observe shipping activity at the Port of Cleveland or recreational boating at North Coast Harbor.

At night, Cleveland Browns Stadium is a crown jewel on the lakefront. Lighting has been specially designed to highlight the columns and beams supporting the upper deck topped by a halo of light glowing from the sideline canopies. Day or night, whether the team is playing or away, Cleveland Browns Stadium brings a new excitement to Brownstown.

Facts & Information

Cleveland Browns Stadium is a state-of-the-art facility, which was constructed as the home of the Cleveland Browns. The Stadium was built on the site of Cleveland Municipal Stadium, with the groundbreaking ceremony taking place on May 15, 1997. The project was completed on Aug. 1, 1999, and the first game ever at Cleveland Browns Stadium took place Aug. 21, 1999 between the Cleveland Browns and Minnesota Vikings.

CLEVELAND BROWNS STADIUM

The Stadium was built at an estimated cost of $290 million and was financed with funds from the City, State, County, Regional Transit Authority, the Cleveland Browns and a loan from Cleveland Tomorrow. The Stadium was designed by the architecture firm HOK Sports Facilities Group, while Huber, Hunt & Nichols served as the construction manager for the project.

Cleveland Browns Stadium has a seating capacity of over 73,200 and features 147 Luxury Suites, 8,600 Club Seats and 10,000 Dawg Pound Seats. The Stadium features the largest and most capable video screens in any NFL Stadium. The Prostar VideoPlus display boards are located behind each end zone and measure approximately 27 feet high by 94 feet wide.

Stadium Facts

- Architect: HOK Sports Facilities Groups.
- Construction Manager: Huber, Hunt & Nichols.
- Seating Capacity: over 73,200.
  - 8,600 Club Seats.
  - 10,000 Dawg Pound Seats (bleacher seating).
  - 147 Luxury Suites.
- ADA Seating: Capable of providing over 1400 wheelchair-accessible seats.
- Cost: In excess of $290 million with contributions from the City, State, County, Regional Transit Authority, Cleveland Browns and Cleveland Tomorrow.
- Gridiron Square Dining, Retail and Entertainment Area: A 12,000 square-foot area that includes the Browns Team Shop, the Grille and Sports Bar and the Pepsi Cleveland Browns Hall of Fame Museum.
- Groundbreaking: May 15, 1997.
- Scoreboards: Cleveland Browns Stadium features the largest and most capable video screens in any NFL Stadium. The Prostar VideoPlus display boards are located behind each end zone and measure approximately 27 feet high by 94 feet wide. They are capable of displaying live video and instant replays, as well as game information, player and team statistics, advertising, graphics and animation in 16.7 million colors.
- Stadium Gates:
  Cleveland Clinic Sports Health Gate – Southwest corner
  National City Gate – Southeast corner
  STERIS – Northeast corner
  CoreComm – Northwest corner
- Playing Field: The playing field was renovated in April 2000. The field was converted from a sand-based field to a sand-soil root zone, making it the first NFL playing surface to incorporate soil. The sod originated at the Tuckahoe Turf Farm in Hammonton, N.J. and blends four variations of Kentucky Bluegrass – P105, Ram I, Limousine and Adelphi. The field was specifically designed and laboratory tested by the Cleveland Browns for the environmental conditions in Cleveland. Modifying the field with soil promotes stability in the field, nutrient retention, increased microorganism activity and increased efficiency in the heating system.
